Once there was a snail and a dog with a tail. They had to wait in the rain to get on the train. They paid at the main desk and went straight to the platform.
On the way the dog tripped on a nail and sprained his ankle. He was in a lot of pain - he started to wail and complain. When the train came, the snail used his brain and found a chain to get the dog on the train. The dog thanked the snail for coming to his aid and together they laid looking out the window at the big, bright rainbow.
