Science home learning 25th January 2021

Thank you for the weather forecasts you sent me last week!

Today I would like you to do something a little bit different! We are still thinking about icy, cold weather conditions to start with. Have a chat with someone at home about the type of clothes you need to wear when outside in icy, cold weather. You will know about this as we have all had quite a lot of icy, cold weather recently! If possible please get dressed, wearing appropriate clothes and footwear for going outside on an icy, cold day.

Take a photo and send it in using Dojo.

Now I would like you to think about weather in the summer time. In the summer time our weather can be very hot and sunny. Have a chat with someone about the type of clothes you wear on a hot and sunny day. If possible, please can you get dressed for a hot, sunny day? Take a photo and send it in using Dojo.

Please take a little time to talk about and discuss any similarities and difference between the two sets of clothes.

Thank you ☺
