The Life of David Attenborough

Sir David Attenborough is one of Britain's most famous and best loved TV presenters. He is a natural historian who has introduced generations of people to a variety of unknown species of animals from around the world.

"I just wish the world was twice as big and half of it was still unexplored."

Today's challenge is to find out as much as you can about Sir David Attenborough. You then need to make a poster detailing his life using the most interesting facts you have discovered. Why is he an inspiration?

There may be a reward for the most creative and informative design...
